Interim road manager will have his hands full

BY ED LEPOMA

Tommy Moran, Hancock County's interim Road Chief, will have his hands full keeping pace with road improvements planned or underway.

At Monday's meeting, supervisors ousted Road Supt. Dewey Bobinger and appointed Moran to fill in temporarily. When Moran arrived to accept the position, he was soon bombarded with matters he needed to look into right away.

At the request of Bay St. Louis, supervisors are being asked to share the cost of redirecting drainage on Bookter Street to the beach.

Ron Vanney, the Bay's director of Public Works, came before supervisors, along with Economic Community Development Director Harold (Buz) Olsen and Brother Ronald Talbot, SC, president of St. Stanislaus.

The drainage project would replace an existing drainage system, which cuts across the school's parking lot, and Vanney asked the county to pay the cost of extending the drainage form the county's right-of-way to a discharge outfall that would be installed at the edge of the beach.

Vanney said the estimated cost of the project would be between $150,000 and $170,000, and supervisors said they would use money in the Seawall Fund for the project.

Supervisors also got a request from Hancock Medical Center to share in the cost of installing a new culvert and an access road to the hospital from Green Meadow Road. They voted to take some of the pressure off Moran, and asked county engineer Larry Seal to estimate the cost.

Hancock County School Supt. Terry Randolph appealed to supervisors to allow the school district to let a design contract so road work can begin at the new middle school site, adjacent to the present high school.

But, District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward convinced Randolph to hold off and allow the project to be bid as part of the county's $5 million package of improvements that should go out to bid July 6. "Larry Seal's going to have to get involved anyway," said Coward.

At the request of Supervisors Coward and Jeep Ladner, Seal was also asked to look into several spots where drainage canals have deteriorated or collapsed on Beach Boulevard in Waveland and at Engman Avenue and the 800 block of North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

Clermont Harbor resident Ina Day made her second appeal to supervisors for help installing a fence and a guard rail to safeguard a pond off Clermont Boulevard, where a mother and several baby alligators make their home.

Day said the gators are harassed every day by people throwing trash at them to get their attention, and she also fears someone will poach the critters.

Moran was asked to look into the situation to see if there is enough space along the edge of the roadway to install a guardrail.

Supervisors also concurred in several actions recently authorized by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.

They voted to authorize the Commission to accept a federal grant in the amount of $103,500 to update the Master Plan for Stennis International Airport. Bill Stovall, deputy P&H Director, said the total cost of the plan will be $115,000, with the Commission to pay the balance. He said the Commission has voted to hire Airport Development Group, Inc. of Aurora, Colo. to draw up the plan. Stovall predicted development of the plan would lead to Stennis landing a federal grant of $2.5 million to extend the airport's taxiways.

In other action pertaining to the Port Bienville Industrial Park, supervisors:

- Authorized the Commission to execute a contract with BCM Engineers to design a railroad switch into the Polychemie property for $2,000 in order to accommodate the firm's planned $22 million expansion.

- Approved a change order that would add to Smith Railway Services contract to extend an addition railroad switch and 135 feet of track into the entrance of Polychemie's plant at an additional cost of $44,410.

- Approved awarding of a contract not to exceed $27,100 to allow Elliot and Garver to design expansion of the Port Bienville Car Wash facility.

P&H Director Hal Walters said the facility now handles 2,000 rail cars a year, mostly for the GE Plant located at the park, but when the Wellman's plastics plant comes on line, the number of cars might triple to 6,000 with full plant capacity.

Supervisors also approved a request by Civil Defense Director Lynette Carbon to designate the Bay St. Louis Senior Citizens Center as an emergency shelter in the event of a hurricane or other natural disaster. Carbon also wants to send a surplus emergency generator over to the center for use during emergencies.

And, District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman said the remaining three members of Pearlington's Water and Sewer District have recommended replacing two members, who resigned. The Board approved recommendations to appoint Ronnie Cuevas and Carol Sue Hobbs, both of Pearlington, to the Commission.

School board approves drug testing plan

BY B. R. HAWKINS

On an unanimous vote, the Hancock County School Board approved the first drug testing program for high school athletes in Hancock County Monday evening, June 22. Implementing the program, according to District Superintendent Terry Randolph, may take a little more work to find the money to fund the plan.

The plan, presented to the board by Athletic Director Rocky Gaudin and Hancock High School Principal Donnie Gholston, is scheduled to become effective August 1998.

"We will test all students athletes who will participate in interscholastic or extracurricular programs sponsored by the Hancock County School District and regulated by the Mississippi High School Activities Association (MHSAA)," said Gaudin in making his presentation.

Hancock County students participating in senior high school and junior high school football, girls and boys basketball, track, tennis, volleyball, and cross country programs and cheerleading, dance teams, marching and jazz bands will be subject to testing.

The total of student athletes to be tested in the fall is estimated at 325; the winter estimate runs 250 with an estimated 250 students to be tested in the spring.

The total cost of the program is expected to run approximately $24,500 per year or an approximate cost of $35 per student.

"The (drug testing) program, once implemented, will be mandatory for all student athletes," said Terry Randolph, Hancock County School District superintendent. "The process is to provide for the health and safety of all students. With this program, we hope to undermine the effects of peer pressure by providing a legitimate reason for student athletes to refuse to use illegal drugs, and we will encourage participation in drug treatment programs for those students who use drugs."

In May, student representatives visiting with the board voiced their support in the eventual passage of a drug testing program.

Jessica Spangler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Spangler of Kiln, offered strong support of drug testing for athletes and encouraged board members to allay some of the fear and apprehension surrounding the proposed testing with a strong effort to explain to students and to parents the testing procedures.

The policy provides for a number of criteria, including consent, testing facilities, scope of the testing, submission of samples, selection of students for random testing, access to results, refusal to submit to a test, as well as procedures in the event of positive test results. The criteria will be listed in the student handbook for the school year.

"The members of the Task Force Committee have spent many hours developing and refining this policy," said Hancock High School Principal Donnie Gholston. "We are appreciative of their work."

Officers seize marijuana arrest juvenile for possession

BY B. R. HAWKINS

Officers from the Hancock County Narcotic Task Force, in two separate incidents, seized 48 pounds of marijuana with a street value estimated at $60,000 and arrested a 16-year-old juvenile on charges of possession of crack cocaine with the intent to distribute, according to Shane Corr, Task Force director.

Corr said that Lt. Jimmy Esposito stopped an El Exproso bus traveling I-10 at approximately 3:30 a.m., Sunday, June 28, for a routine traffic violation.

"K-9 Argo conducted a search of the luggage compartment and discovered 48 pounds of marijuana in two suitcases. The street value of that much marijuana can be estimated at nearly $60,000," Corr said. "No arrests were made. The case is under investigation."

Also on Sunday, June 28, Officer Ian Estorfee at approximately 4 p.m., stopped a vehicle in the 700 block of Sycamore. Corr said as the vehicle was coming to a stop the officer observed a pill bottle being thrown from the passenger side window.

"Estorfee and Task Force Agent Mike Byrd recovered the bottle," Corr said. "It contained numerous rocks of cocaine and prescription pills."

The youth was arrested and is being held in Poplarville Youth Detention Center.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Well, the big July Fourth weekend is upon us, and there are lots of activities for persons of all ages.

The Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo is well underway and will run through Sunday evening. The rodeo's headquarters are at the Rice Pavillion in Gulfport, (Highway 90 at Highway 49).

This is the golden anniversary for the fishing rodeo, which is billed as the world's largest.

There is no charge for fishermen to enter the competition. All they have to do is fill out an entry form before they fish.

Chuck Dedeaux is the rodeo chairman, and he reports there will be some $30,000 in fishing prizes up for grabs.

Fish will be on display at the Rice Pavillion for persons who do not fish, and there will also be a lot of live entertainment over the five-day period. There is a $2 per person charge for the Rice Pavillion.

The 1998 Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo's queen and her court will be making appearances during the big rodeo.

Scales open at 9 a.m. each day through Sunday with the midway opening at 11 a.m. each day. Scales close each night at 8 p.m. with the exception of Sunday when the scales will close at 5 p.m.

The live entertainment includes some very popular bands and groups. The final entertainment group on Sunday night will be Garland Moran and the Night Travelers at 8 p.m.

The big boat drawing will be at 10 p.m. with the rodeo closing at midnight Sunday.

I hope to see you at the big fishing rodeo this weekend.

It's also time to get in the mood for festival and fair activities this weekend.

Bay St. Louis will have its annual Our Lady of The Gulf Catholic Church's Crab Fest, and St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church will have its annual Family Church Fair.

Activities are both Friday through Sunday.

There will be all types of food available at both events, so moms can get out of the kitchen and enjoy the weekend, too.

At the OLG Crab Fest grounds open at 10 a.m. each day and offer a wide variety of seafood specialties, live entertainment, all types of booths, such as plants and flowers, white elephant booth, etc.

They also will have their annual $15,000 drawdown.

The St. Rose Fair begins with an "eat-in" or "carry-out" from the church school hall beginning at 11 a.m. each day.

St. Rose will have all types of booths, games, entertainment and activities for the entire family.

We have some opportunities to enjoy ourselves and eat some good food. I hope to see you at the Crab Fest and Family Fair.

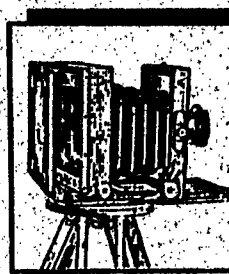

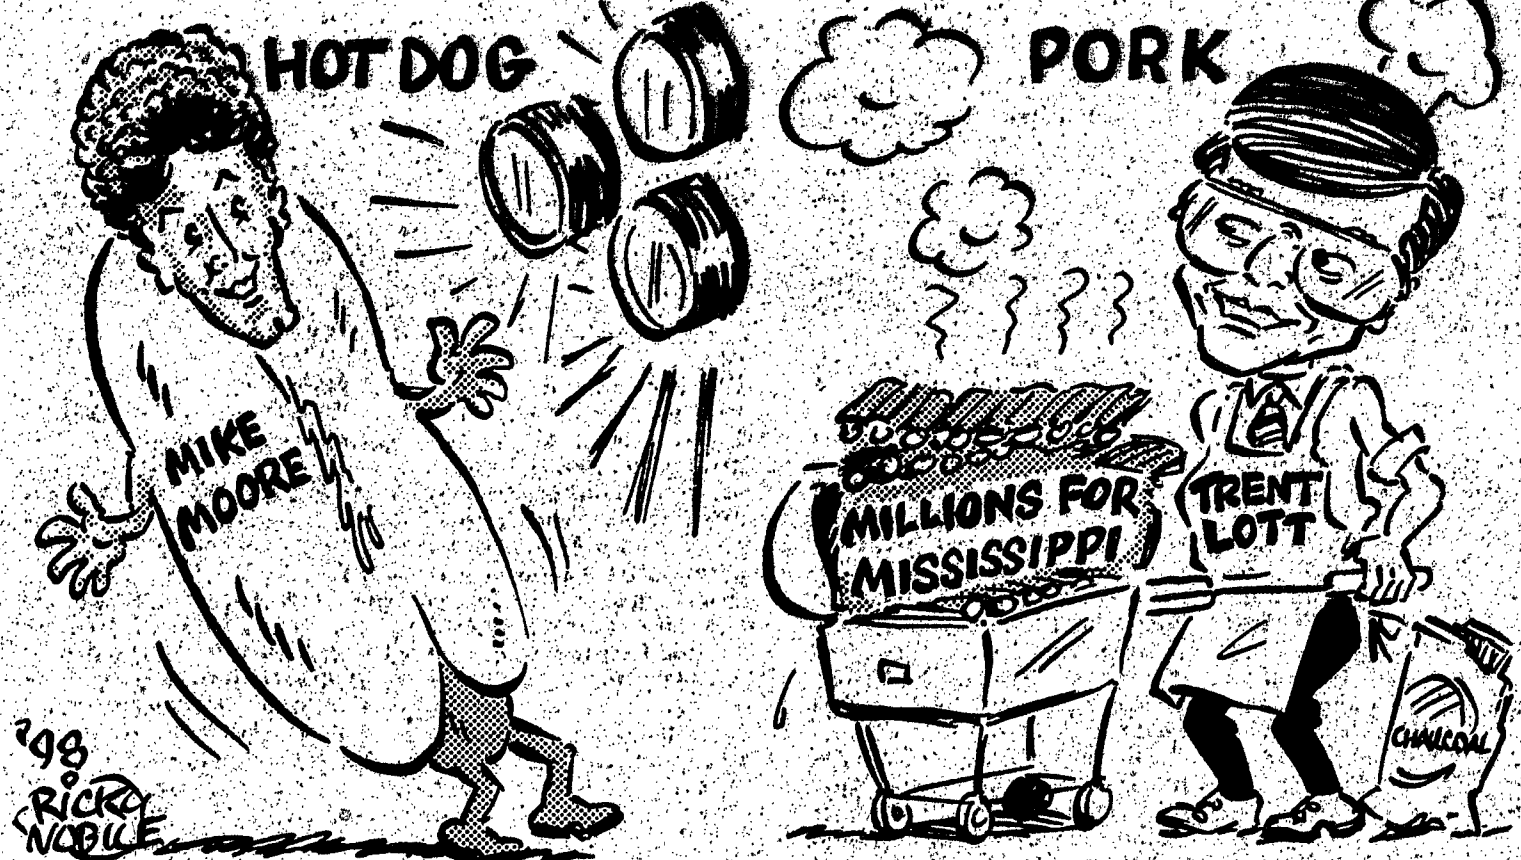

A program which should be of much interest to Bay St. Louis business owners is to be sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Police Department on Thursday, July 9, 1 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Depot.

The program will include someone from the State Attorney General's Office and Bay Police Department on the new tobacco laws and how they affect local merchants.

Any retailer who sells tobacco products, whether its cigarettes, cigars, pipe tobacco or smokeless tobacco, is urged to attend.

Bay St. Louis PD received a grant thought the Attorney General's Office to assist in the enforcement of the new tobacco laws.

Ten Years Ago

JULY 3, 1988

—An increase of 30 to 40 employees is expected at Bay Technical Association, a Bay St. Louis industry, upon completion of a plant expansion scheduled to begin on Tuesday. The 10,000 square foot expansion to the company's facility at 200 N. Second St. should take 4-6 months for completion, Charles (Chuck) Ramsey, general manager said Friday. The Bay St. Louis facility has 90 employees with a current annual payroll of $1.98 million, Ramsey stated. In 1982, Bay Tech began its commercial, data communications business with the introduction of the first of a new breed of high-performance, code-activated switching devices. Since then Bay Tech's Data Communications Products division has been a leader in the design and production of computer port expansion and data communication devices.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

JULY 5, 1973

—With the Fourth of July holiday just four hours away, the Waveland Board of Aldermen Tuesday night postponed any decisive action on the city's ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks. Although the city passed an ordinance in November 1972 prohibiting the sale, but not the shooting, of fireworks, several stands have been set up on Highway 90 and another on Coleman Avenue. All advertising fireworks for sale.

—Bill Garrett, Slidell, La., businessman, today announced the acquisition of an FCC permit for construction of a 5,000 watt radio station in Hancock County. The station, whose call letters have not yet been established, will be built in Bay St. Louis on Blue Meadow Road. Its frequency will be 1190 on the a.m. dial and will operate from dawn to dusk.

Fifty Years Ago

—More than one half mile of the Hancock-Harrison County bridge (over the Bay of St. Louis) was destroyed by fire of an unknown origin Sunday evening. Estimated damage will exceed $500,000. The fire was discovered about 7 p.m. and spread so rapidly, being fanned by a strong breeze, that it was impossible for fire fighting apparatus to do any effective work. Engines from Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and Gulfport came to the aid of the fire boat of the Mississippi Highway Department. Southern Highway Commission John Smith stated that funds for construction of a new concrete bridge were not available at this time, and it would take approximately three years of this type of construction of this type of bridge, and that costs could exceed $5 million. Light traffic is being re-routed through Kiln and Fenton to DeLisle, Pineville and to Highway 90 at Menge Avenue in Pass Christian. This road is now under construction by the State Highway Department, as a farm to market road, and it is being rushed to completion, and Mr. Smith stated that he planned to have a surface treatment applied as soon as practicable. Gravel at the present time is being put on the road, and the worse sections are being gravelled first.

—Mrs. Victoria Becker and Mrs. Marie Kestler, telephone operators of Bay St. Louis, who brought national honors to Bay St. Louis by their "courage and devotion to duty" during the hurricane of Last September 19, were presented Silver Vail Medals last night by Hal S. Dumas, of Atlanta, Georgia, president of the Southern Bell Company, at a banquet at Hotel Markham, at Gulfport. In addition to the medal Mrs. Becker and Mrs. Kestler were each given award of $500. In making the awards the national Vail Award Committee of New York considered 27 noteworthy acts performed by telephone employees in the United States during 1947 and early 1948, and the award to the local operators and to Miss Nellie Bourdin and Mrs. Gerry Bishop of Pass Christian were the only four awards made. Mrs. Becker and Mrs. Kestler reported for duty on the morning of the hurricane and remained at their switchboards while 100 miles per hour winds toppled buildings in front of the telephone office, and the water flooded the operating rooms. The citation awarded to these splendid women read: "For courage, resourcefulness and conspicuous devotion to duty in maintaining essential telephone service and protecting company equipment during the hurricane of September, 19, 1947."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Newspaper industry commended by Lakeshore resident

To the Editor:

Greetings and salutations! As a youngster I was blessed with a family structure which demanded strict diligence towards the affairs of my fellow beings via newspapers, books, radio and eventually the "boob tube."

As varied and illogical the actions of my fellow beings have seemed to me throughout the decades, I shudder to think of what would have transpired without the ceaseless dedication and sacrifices of the many heroes of journalism throughout history.

There would be no American Indians left, no Jewish peoples; mothers, sisters and daughters would not have the right to vote, to hold office or become professionals. Blacks would still be sold in the market place, and civil rights would never have been.

No person should pick up a newspaper without a feeling of awe and inspiration. Certainly no child should be allowed to read only the comics. The only true freedom that matters is freedom of the press, without which the rights of the people would immediately cease to exist.

Never before in history has it been so important to the news to be sought out and held up for public view. Corporate and government greed, the chipping away of fundamental rights and liberties by creating hysteria among the "brain dead" citizens consumed by the overpowering desires for more and more and more must be seen for what it is.

The disappearance tomorrow of the greedy citizens and the selfrighteous religious leaders would instantly produce a much better planet. The disappearance tomorrow of the journalists and news media would immediately produce a living hell.

I commend you for your chosen profession, without which there would be no history to remind us of past atrocities and injustices, no possibility of a more enlightened tomorrow.

Respectfully,
W. D. Garcia

Cochran, Lott announce over $2 million in education funding

Education grants totaling over $2 million have been approved for school reform programs in Mississippi. Senators Thad Cochran and Trent Lott announced.

The senators said the U.S. Department of Education has selected school improvement programs to receive funding under the Comprehensive School Reform Demonstration Program which enables local communities to improve their schools and raise student achievement based on reliable research and effective practices. These grants will be available July 1, 1998.

Approximately 35 schools will receive competitive grants from the state. In order to be eligible for funding, school reform programs must integrate challenging curriculum and instruction, ongoing teacher professional development, active parent involvement and effective school management and utilize high-quality assistance from outside partners experienced in schoolwide reform.

The Comprehensive School Reform Demonstration Program focuses on comprehensive reforms that foster schoolwide improvements and include an emphasis on basic academics and parental involvement.

The program will also raise academic standards and improve measurements of student performance by encouraging schools to use successful, developed models of reform.

Cochran said, "This funding will help communities meeting challenging academic standards in our state and will aid local schools in adopting comprehensive improvements."

Public invited to tour

The public is invited to tour one of the Navy's newest oceanographic survey ships, USNS Henson, in port at Gulfport July 3-4.

The USNS Henson will be docked at the Port of Gulfport East Pier, and public tours will be offered on both days noon-4 p.m. Tours are free, and reservations are not required.

The 329-foot Henson is the fourth of the Navy's newest class of multi-mission oceanographic survey ships. Capable of gathering data in both coastal or deep ocean water, Henson and her sister ships operate faster, require smaller crews and can gather more data than the single-purpose survey ships that they are replacing.

All of the multi-mission class ships were built at Halter Marine Shipyard in Moss Point. A fifth ship in the class, to be named USNS Heezen, is currently under construction.

The Navy uses these ships as survey platforms to learn more about the air/ocean environment in order to optimize its resources at sea. Visitors will see demonstrations of equipment used to measure water depth, currents, temperature, salinity and acoustic properties, along with various navigation and weather monitoring systems.

Tours will last approximately one-half hour. Comfortable walking shoes are recommended.

Henson operates at a sustained speed of 16 knots and accommodates a crew of 55, including 27 scientists and survey party technicians from the Naval Oceanographic Office at Stennis Space Center. The ship

Bay St. Louis receives high marks from state Public Service Commission

"Bay St. Louis has been named one of Mississippi's Livable Cities, had its name run on the Times Square marquee for headline news, had employees recognized for their superior service, and for the first time the Mississippi Public Service Commission inspection of the city's gas lines revealed no areas of non-compliance.

"This is exhilarating news and I couldn't be prouder of any group of employees than I am of our dedicated Public Works crews that accomplished this great goal," said Mayor Eddie Favre when announcing the news to the City Council at their workshop meeting Monday evening.

In 1992 the city had a 24 percent unaccounted for gas rating. At that time a strategic plan was developed and employees aggressively pursued activities to eliminate this city burden. Under the direction of the late Lucien Kidd, utilities supervisor, the city began changing out every gas meter in the city. This served as the preliminary source of finding all leaks. Residents were a part of the repair process by having repairs made on their side of the line as the city began to locate other leaks along the system.

Employees began the tedious process of testing every line in the city for leaks, locating those leaks and making the determination of whether they could be repaired through slip lining or complete replacement. Starting in the oldest sections of the city, employees moved street by street until the entire city had been covered.

Unaccounted for gas numbers began to drop, but the city had not reached the performance level PSC desired. The city continued to invest in the elimination of unaccounted for gas each fiscal year. With each phase the work completed the unaccounted for gas percentages came down. During the most recent fiscal year the hard work and investment had paid off with this recent PSC report.

"We are so low on unaccounted for gas that the gas companies owe us. We invested, we saved, and have succeeded in reaching our goal. I'm sure Mr. Lucien is beaming, saying he told us so. The credit for the hard work goes to our Public Works Department, Ron Vanney, director.

The credit for finding the consistent funding to continue the process goes to our former municipal clerk, Kay Johnson and current clerk, Bobby Parker. My thanks and those of the citizens of Bay St. Louis are sent to each of you," concluded the Mayor.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JULY 2, 1998-9A

State real estate market continues strong pace

Mississippi home sales in May can best be described in three words—hot, hot hot. Last month, Mississippians experienced hot weather, a hot economy and a home sales market so hot that it topped already robust March and April home sales markets.

According to the May statewide Homes Sales Report, released by the Mississippi Association of Realtors, Mississippi's Realtors closed 1,310 homes last month, up 13.5 percent from April and posted the best month for home sales this year.

MAR president Cynthia S. Joachim, ABR, CIPS, CRB, CRS, GRI, says the state is experiencing considerable growth, which has helped keep the consumer confidence index near the 29-year high and Mississippi's home sales market thriving.

"The DeSoto County area is experiencing a population explosion, and development is extremely strong in the Oxford, Tupelo, West Point and Gulf Coast markets because of tourism and healthy local economies."

"The result is that in May we saw statewide home sales increase over both the previous month and May of last year," says Joachim.

The two largest markets in the state, Jackson and the Gulf Coast closed 378 and 231 units respectively, both showing increases over April's home sales numbers. The markets in the state showing the highest increases over April were Golden Triangle, closing 93 units; Natchez closing 24 units; and Oxford closing 31 units.

The markets claiming the highest average home sales prices are Hattiesburg at $102,781; Oxford at $104,037; and the Jackson area at $104,566. The average selling price year-to-date is $92,393.

Statewide Statistics
Total homes sold: May 1998, 1,310; April 1998, 1,154; May 1997, 1,227; year-to-date, 6,702.

Average selling price: May 1998, $89,311; April 1998, $93,003; May 1997, $87,078; year-to-date, $92,392.

Local Statistics
These statistics reflect residential sales of houses, condominiums and town homes by Realtors in the following market areas:

Total Homes Sold
*Gulf Coast: May 1998, 231; April 1998, 217; May 1997, 227; year-to-date, 1,033.

Average Selling Price
Gulf Coast: May 1998, $95,733; April 1998, $99,149; May 1997, $97,752; year-to-date, $97,767.

Hilton to buy Grand

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Hilton Hotels Corp. is splitting into separate hotel and casino companies and will buy three Mississippi properties from Grand Casinos Inc. for $650 million.

The split, announced today, allows the company to free its more successful hotel holdings from its struggling gambling business. It follows two failed attempts by Hilton in the past year to merge with other hotel and casino operators.

Hilton's gambling business is the world's largest, with revenue of $2.6 billion last year. But the U.S. casino industry is performing poorly overall, in part due to fierce competition.

Hilton's new casino company, which has yet to be named, will acquire the three casinos from Grand Casinos using stock and also will assume $550 million of the Minnesota, Minn.-based company's debt.

Grand Casinos will spin off its Indian casino management business and other assets to its shareholders as part of the deal.

Hilton, based in Beverly Hills, has 260 hotels in the United States. Its new casino company will have 18 casinos in Nevada, New Jersey, Mississippi, Louisiana, Missouri, Australia and Uruguay.

Hilton shareholders are expected to receive one share in each of the gaming and hotel companies for each share they own.

Grand Casinos shares dropped $1.50, or 8 percent, to $17 in midday trading on the New York Stock Exchange after the announcement. Hilton shares were down $1.25, or 4 percent, to $30.25.

Stephen Bollenbach, Hilton's president and chief executive, will keep his current titles and serve as chairman of the new casino company. Arthur Goldberg, president of Hilton's gambling operations, will become the new casino company's president and CEO.

Hilton spent nearly all of 1997 trying to acquire ITT

Corp., owner of the Sheraton and Caesars hotels and casinos, in a hostile attempt to create the world's No. 1 operator of big hotels and casinos. Despite raising its offer twice to reach $10 billion, Hilton was unable to best Starwood Hotels' $10.6 billion friendly bid for ITT.

Just four months after losing out on ITT, Hilton in March began talks about acquiring hotel and casino operator Circus Circus Enterprises and splitting Hilton into separate hotel and casino companies. But those talks collapsed when the companies could not agree on price, management structure and other issues.

said, "All necessary permits to allow the Circus Circus project...to proceed have been issued by state and federal agencies. There is presently no legal barrier to Pine Hills commencing development of the project as no court has stayed any of these permits."

It was Robertson, a former Mississippi Supreme Court Judge, who turned the tables last October, and filed suit in U.S. District Court in Hattiesburg asking that court to rule the permit issued by the U.S. Corps of Engineers to Circus Circus was valid. Named as defendants in that suit were: Gulf Islands Conservancy Inc., Concerned Citizens to Protect the Isle and the Point, Inc., Preserve Diamondhead Quality, Inc., the Bay St. Louis Community Association, the Sierra Club, Inc., the Center for Marine Conservation and the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Although the suit did not seek punitive damages from opponents, it asked the judge "for preliminary and permanent injunctive relief to prevent defendants from initiating further litigation to delay or block the project."

Nonnie DeBardeleben, who heads up Concerned Citizens to Protect the Isle and the Point, said she was in Hattiesburg for the Tuesday hearings and said she was very pleased by Pickering's decision.

"I didn't expect it, but we're very pleased," she said. "We felt all along that the lawsuit (filed by Robertson) was inappropriate."

She said Pickering's ruling would also likely have a bearing on a similar suit filed in federal court in Washington, D.C. by Europa Cruises Corp. (developers of Casino World) that used the same wording as Robertson's suit and asked that court to uphold the permit granted them by the Army Engineers.

DeBardeleben said the next move by Reilly Morse, the Gulfport attorney representing the various groups, would be to ask Pickering to lift the temporary injunction that stayed other pending legal challenges.

Morse said the legal ramifications of Judge Pickering's ruling might be confusing to the average reader.

"What he basically said is that he did not have jurisdiction to grant the relief requested by Circus Circus or to rule on the merits of the permit issued," said Morse.

He explained the federal court is basically an appellate court, and could rule on a challenge to the permit brought against Circus Circus by opponents.

Morse said he would meet with clients to decide where another suit would be filed.

Washington-based Friends of the Earth and the Gulfport-based Gulf Islands Conservancy filed suit last April in federal court in Washington challenging the permit issued to Casino World.

last January when he said he saw road supervisor Donald Famularo driving a county truck after working hours. He said he asked Bobinger to look into the situation, and, "Today, I still don't have any feedback."

He said at a board meeting, he had asked Bobinger to install a culvert to replace a cattle gap on Henry Shubert Road, but it wasn't replaced until a day after a young girl was injured in an accident there.

Pullman said Bobinger let road crews continue cutting grass in the MASA buffer zone, although he told him grass should first be cut in residential areas.

The incident that seemed to prompt Pullman to act, however, was his charge that District 1 Jeep-Ladner spotted Bobinger's county truck and Famularo's county truck parked along the Jourdan River while the pair was on a shrimping trip.

Bobinger said the trucks were parked near one of his homes, and he left word with his office to page him if he was needed.

"Everyone knew where I was," said Bobinger. "They knew what I was doing."

Pullman made the motion to fire Bobinger, and Ladner seconded.

"I've got plenty of reasons," Ladner said. "I'm just wasting my time (asking for things) because it never gets done."

Ladner said his main problem with Bobinger was, "a lack of communication." He said Bobinger didn't call him or anyone when he took a vacation or sick day.

Before the vote, District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour said, "As far as Dewey's performance, he's done a good job for me. He's done everything I asked to be done in my area."

Seymour then asked county attorney Gerald Gex if he felt Bobinger had done anything illegal, particularly on the charge of bringing the county trucks to the shrimping site.

"It's not good P.R.," Gex said. "But, I don't know if it was illegal."

Gex then read that portion of the state law that specifies the county road superintendent is contractually employed and serves at the discretion of the majority of the five-member board.

Pullman then asked for a vote, and District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward sided with him and Ladner to fire Bobinger, but did not elaborate her reasons. Board President Philip Moran and Seymour voted against.

Later, the Board said Famularo would be warned, but not suspended; over the incident. "Basically, Donald was going with his boss," said Moran.

Following the vote, Pullman said, "I don't take personal pleasure in firing anybody, but I'm bound by law to do what is right for the taxpayers. He said the firing should serve as warning to others not to use county equipment for their own needs."

"If you're going to use county vehicles for your own personal gains, you're not going to be employed by the county very long," Pullman warned.

Pullman then asked the Board to appoint former Road Supt. Tommy Moran as interim road manager until a replacement is found.

Moran served in that capacity when supervisors first took office in January of 1986, and promptly fired Sam Cuevas, who was road chief under the previous administration. He served until supervisors selected Bobinger from a field of 17 original applicants. Moran officially retired in September of 1996, but he has been working for the county part-time as Bobinger's assistant.

Contacted about the termination, county engineer Larry Seal admitted it came at a crucial time.

He said he was preparing specs so supervisors on July 6 can begin to advertise to let out about $4 million of $5 million in road paving and improvement projects.

Before any work begins, Seal said, "The county has to do a lot of road preparation work." He said this means road crews need to be dispatched and organized so construction won't be slowed on any project.

But, Seal added, "I think Tommy (Moran) is very, very capable."

Bobinger called the Echo Tuesday to say he would have a statement Wednesday, but by press time, he had not commented, and efforts to contact him were unsuccessful.

Civil Air Patrol hosts first regional cadet glider school

STORY AND PHOTOS BY
B.R. HAWKINS

The Mississippi Wing of the Civil Air Patrol piloted the first regional cadet glider school recently. Cadets from across the state were housed in the Air National Guard Headquarters in Gulfport for a week of classroom and flight training.

Flight training took place at Stennis International Airport in Waveland. Cadets, following a textbook curriculum, received hands-on training in all aspects of flight training.

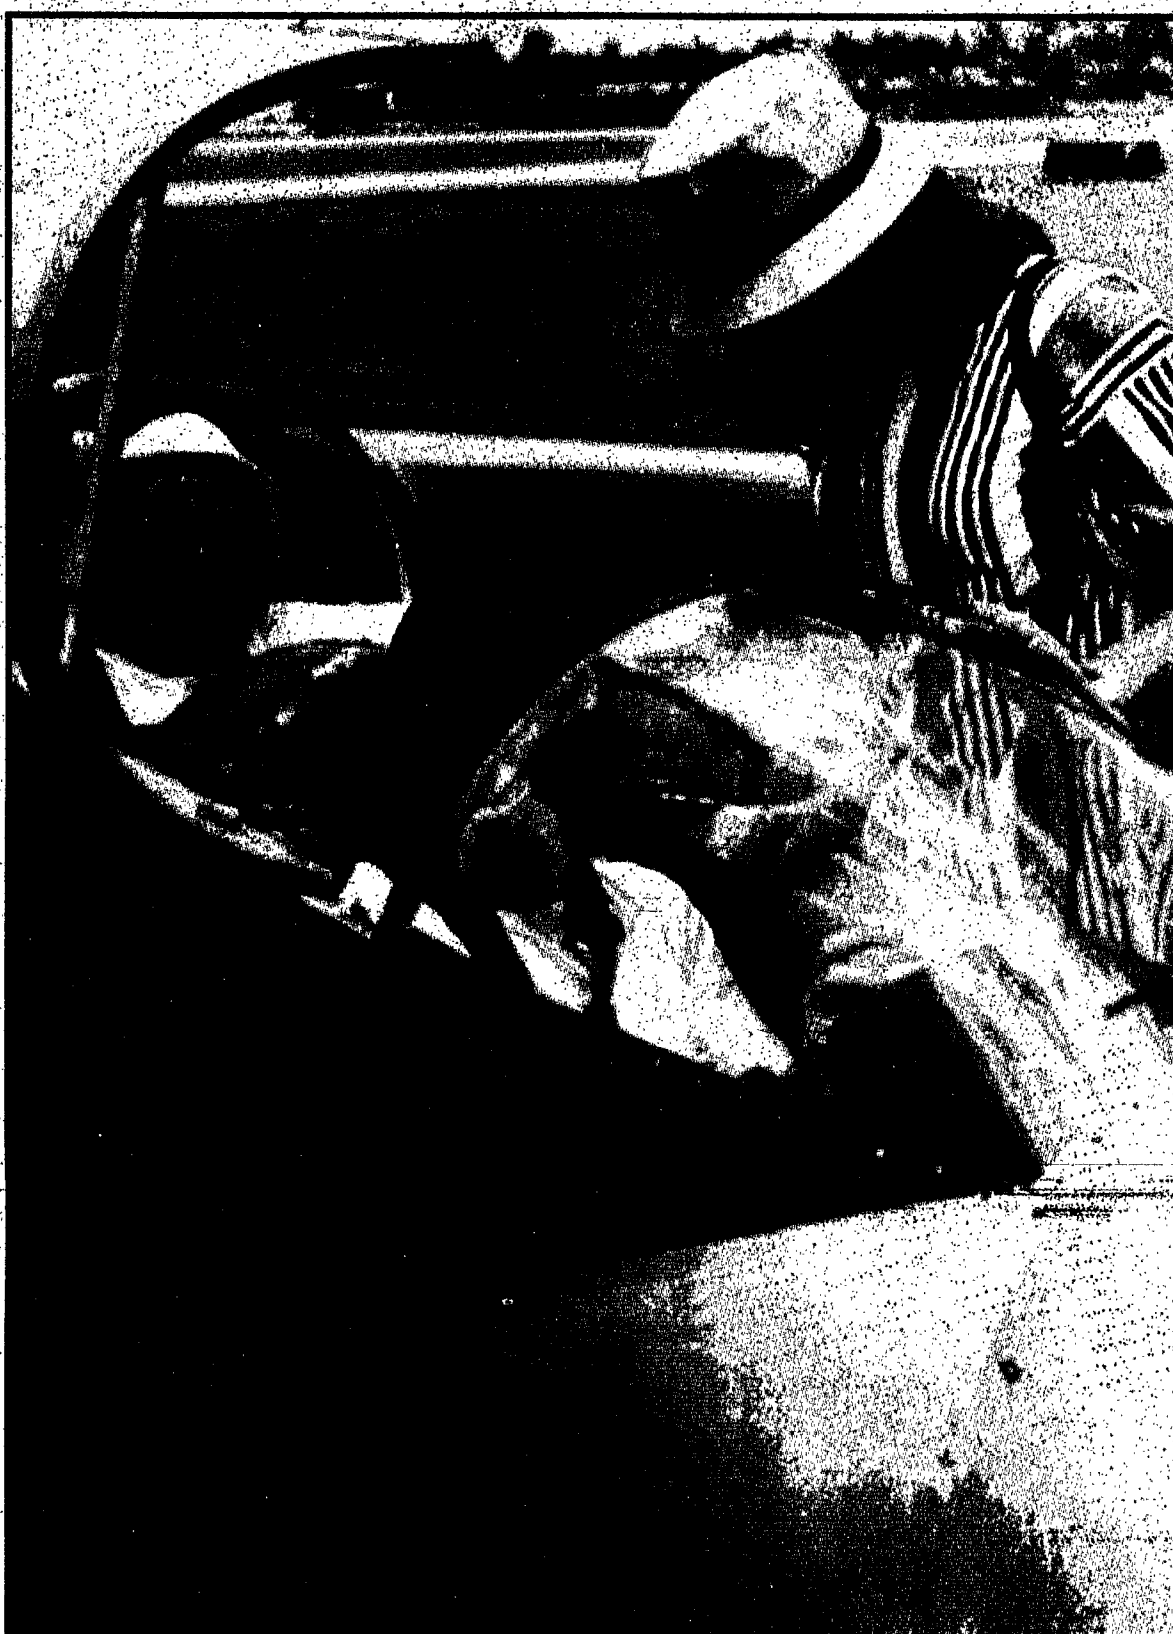

Cadets function in tandem with the Civil Air Patrol in activities and training from search and rescue missions to disaster relief efforts.

Cadets participating and successfully completing the week-long glider flight school were credited additionally with hours towards their pilot's licenses. Each flight was logged and reviewed by the school command.

The Mississippi Wing's selection to host the first regional school was based largely on the participation and expertise of the ground command leaders. The pilots, ground crews and technicians volunteered their time and energy. Patrons of Civil Air Patrol donated two planes, gliders, gasoline and mechanical resources to support the success of the program.

For more information about the Civil Air Patrol and its cadet program, contact the Mississippi Air National Guard in Gulfport.

Foundation's gift

Foundation's gift benefits soccer league

Bay Area Youth Soccer (BAYS) reports that significant progress on the Scott Demboski Memorial Soccerplex is continuing. Kids have completed their first full season on the new fields.

Six fields are completely finished, greening beautifully and draining well. She seventh (and last) field will be finished in the fall after final grading and extension of the sprinkler system.

With the contribution from the Leo W. Seal Family Foundation, work can proceed with the next phase, the construction of a pavilion to provide much needed shade.

As funding permits, rest rooms and concession stand will be added under the pavilion.

The project has progressed so well, BAYS looks forward to the final phases, which include parking, lighting and landscaping.

Youth clinic ends with bang

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Bay St. Louis Youth Football League concluded their first annual clinic on Wednesday, July 1, at Joe D. McCullough Stadium with a bang.

The Bay High Tiger coaching staff, led by head coach David Baughman, did the majority of the organizational work of the three-day camp and also provided the facilities for the clinic. Baughman and his assistants Landry Kay, Tommy Spillman, Jason Gladney, Cory Bowles, and Bill Fleming worked tirelessly to ensure that the clinic was a success and that no stone was left unturned.

Baughman stated, "The clinic has been a huge success for the kids and we are already planning and studying ideas for next summer."

Hancock County's favorite son, Green Bay quarterback Brett Favre, made a guest appearance at the clinic for the campers.

He gave a question/answer session for the campers before the punt, pass, kick competition winners were announced from the 104 participants.

In the 7-8 year old group the winners were Jonathan Greco and Colby Adam. The 9-10 year old age group winners were Chad Boos and J.C. Brignac. The 11-12 year old division winners were Jay Spell and Ryan Sefton.

These winners were chosen from the competitions held during the three-day camp.

The campers received training from volunteer coaches and players in basic skills, line formation, footwork, and mechanics of passing, kicking, running, and catching.

Some of the volunteer coaches in the clinic were Jerry Spell and Stace McRaney of SSC. Rocky Gaudin and his Hancock High coaching staff also assisted during the camp.

Ode Burrell of Houston Oilers and Amos Fowler of the Detroit Lions gave expert instruction as part of the NFL connection with the camp.

Some former college players like Lee Klein, Billy Thomas, Stu Rayburn, Rob Betcher, Mario Murallas, and Mike Meyers gave their time and effort to the clinic.

The camp was brought to an end with the drawing for a Brett Favre autographed football which was won by Amanda Kergosien of Bay St. Louis.

Take A Night Out

Free fireworks, entertainment scheduled at Casino Magic

Casino Magic Bay St. Louis presents Rockin' Dopsie Jr. & the Zydeco Twisters Thursday and Friday, July 2 and 3 at 8 and 10:30 p.m. as part of an incredible lineup of fourth of July festivities. Between performances, catch a free fireworks display at 9 a.m. on July 3. And performing July 4 and 5 is Irma Thomas, "Soul Queen of New Orleans."

Zydeco music is a bubbling, melodic gumbo concocted from Cajun, Acadian, and African-Caribbean rhythms and melodies and blues. Over the past few years, this funky and highly danceable music has broken out of its Southern Louisiana breeding ground to enjoy widespread popularity throughout the world.

Rockin' Dopsie Jr. (pronounced Doo-psee) & The Zydeco Twisters are the greatest living practitioners of the genre. Dopsie Jr. presents Zydeco with the conviction and authenticity of its rich heritage. His earliest musical memories are of his father's accordion playing. Dopsie Jr. was given a basic accordion by his father at the age of nine. He taught himself to play, as had his father, by listening to and playing along with the radio.

"I really loved that sound, but I needed more mobility so I could jump up and down and do my splits, you know. I must've inherited my love for the blues from my father 'cause I still listen to BB King, Jimmy Reed, the Vaughn Brothers and Bobby Bland, but when I was growing up, the Jackson Five, Sly Stone and James Brown were really happening." Both genres are evident in Dopsie Jr.'s performances.

He played in several bands in his early teens, but at age 21 he was given his first rub board, a must for the authentic presentation of Zydeco. The rub board was his ticket to joining his father's band, in which he became an official member in 1982. Dopsie Jr. was then able to play the music that he loved, plus dance like the psychedelic stars of his time.

Until Rockin' Dopsie Jr.'s untimely death in 1993, the team of father and son netted them international notoriety. Today, the Zydeco Twisters' sole leader is Rockin' Dopsie Jr. His brother, Tiger Dopsie, is the band's drum virtuoso and maintains the highly danceable beat. Anthony Dopsie, a great accordion player, replaced his father in the band, playing the button accordion in a manner similar to his father's, but with the fervor of youth.

Rockin' Dopsie Jr. & The Zydeco Twisters have continued to develop in their own right. The junior Dopsie is considered to be the best rub-board player in the world and is a charismatic stage performer.

Besides having performed extensively on their own tours, the band has toured with Tina Turner, Bonnie Raitt, BB King and Jimmy Buffet. In 1997, they performed on the song "That Was Your Mother (Standing On a Corner In Lafayette, Louisiana)" which was released on Paul Simon's multi-platinum Grammy Award-winning album "Graceland." The band has also performed on recordings with Cindy Lauper and Bob Dylan (Oh, Mercy—1989).

Rockin' Dopsie Jr. & The Zydeco Twisters, still referred to as "Zydeco's Royal Family," have performed in Australia, Italy, France, Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Sweden and many other countries of the world, as well as throughout the U.S. and Canada.

After two nights of Zydeco, the audience can still find magic in the down-home soul of Irma Thomas. At 8 and 10:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 4 and at 6 and 8:30 p.m. on Sunday, July 5, Thomas takes the stage for a free performance at Casino Magic.

The "Queen of Soul" has a string of Top 40 hits in the early 1960s and 1970s. Those classics include "It's Raining," "Wish Someone Would Care For Me" and "You Can Have My Husband, But Don't Mess With My Man."

Thomas is a 1991 Grammy Nominee, an accreditation many would say long overdue. Also, in 1991 she was granted the Rhythm & Blues Foundation Award, which she shares with the likes of Ester Phillips, Clarence Carter, Jerry Butler, Ben E. King and others. Thomas was the W. C. Handy Soul & Blues Female Vocalist of the Year in 1996.

All concerts are free of charge on the casino's main lobby stage.
